

Cambridge University Scavenger Hunt 2016

@CUSH2016
<http://cush.soc.srcf.net/>

11 - 12 June 2016

Terms and Rules of the Hunt (blatantly stolen and amended from previous hunts)

1. Disclaimer. In taking part we remind you all that you are adults and responsible for your own actions. We strongly discourage the use of any illegal means for the purposes of acquiring items or completing tasks. This includes making a nuisance of yourselves to the general public. We will also not be impressed by underhand tactics, particularly involving members of other teams. Please remember this is just for fun, there is no need to get carried away and do something you will later regret.
2. Risk Assessment. We do not believe that the activities of the Scavenger Hunt present any significant hazards, require the use of any equipment that requires special safety training, require the use of or result in the production of harmful chemicals, fumes or dust, require you to enter a dangerous or confined space.
3. Control Measures. At all times consider your own safety and that of the public. No Scavenger Hunt items will require you to endanger yourself or any member of the public. If any danger should present itself or an accident should occur, contact the emergency services. If you feel that we have neglected an aspect of your safety, please inform us immediately.
4. Teams. Teams should consist of up to five players. Obviously, there's not much we can do if you have a small team and lots of friends helping out on individual items. In fact, this is encouraged. However, if any items mention "a team member" or "the entire team", then we're going to insist on exactly that. Substitutions will be considered should a team member have to miss a significant portion of the scavenger hunt, due to examinations for instance.
5. Accessibility. We have attempted to make the scavenger hunt more accessible to people with disabilities this year. Adjustments include limiting the amount of travelling involved in list items, and ensuring that not all team members need to do each task. Please let the judges know if you require assistance in completing a list item due to disabilities, and we will be happy to help/adjust the list item accordingly. We will create a separate quiet, comfortable judging space available to those who need it, either to sit out of the scavenger hunt for a period or to have their items judged/complete challenges. If there is any way we can improve the scavenger hunt experience, please do not hesitate to get in touch.

6. Money. We intend you not to have to spend any more than you would usually do having a fun day out. Whilst some things can easily be obtained through financial means, we really don't want you spending money on things you can't afford, so buy at your own discretion.
7. Getting Items. Many (read a few) of the entries in the list will be items. These are typically worth a static number of points. Many of the items on this list are either vague, up to interpretation or completely nonsensical, as such be inventive with such items. We are interested to see what you can come up with. Also use common sense concerning whether an item should be brought or simply a picture or video will suffice (ask if you're unsure).

Please be sensible with bringing items. You will probably have to walk past a Porter's Lodge with them.

Those items that include a superlative adjective (largest or longest for instance) will be ranked at the end of the hunt and then the points stated will be awarded to the best item in its category. We will not keep any of the items you bring us unless specified, or you want us to. Items left behind at the end of the hunt will be taken or thrown away at our discretion. We may publish photographs and videos unless you don't want us to — tell us when you give us the photographs and videos!

8. Prizes. There may be some form of prize. However, you should aim to be taking part for the fun of it, and perhaps to show off your talents to everyone else playing.
9. Decisions. All decisions of the Judges are final. Final.
10. Final. See Decisions.

Useful Information

We have a website: <http://cush.soc.srcf.net/>
and a twitter: @CUSH2016

These are where we will provide general updates about the hunt, in particular if the judges have vanished all of a sudden we have probably moved locations - we will publish our locations on the above, Queens' Backs is a likely possibility if the weather is nice (it doesn't look like it will).

Location

In general we should be in St. Catharine's College Bar. The entrance is in Chapel Court, see this map: <http://www.caths.cam.ac.uk/sites/www.caths.cam.ac.uk/files/StCatharines-VisitorMap.pdf>

We will be judging from 9am to 9pm on 11, 12 June 2016.
